Paper prototype on github				Paper prototype on github
Includes physical activity change - beaches get cleaned	I like games	positive impact	Contemporary - possibly life changing	Pete likes it!	Could be helpful if it supports message	feasible and interesting		Feasible and helpful	Streaming and electricty use will become a big thing
Doesn't need a large take-up of people to become useful		disabled UI is rarely examined but deserves to be	Might be helpful in drawing attention in self-protection	I'd actually use it	could be quite simple	good division of user stories - bands, fans, promoters etc		natural development from 7 local music - we can use it as an example of how we'd expand 7 in documentation	Could be simple to implement (power usage) but see cons
Fairly single page friendly			easier to implement		anonymous nature could be very good for real world data gathering	could be simplified to just include a description and links to spotify/youtube		Could be evolved to help local councils measure interest in projects	Could be simplified to just calculate energy consumption and provide some stats on your contribution to climate change
Helpful in garbage classification				Paper-prototype has very simple UI
				Marceli sent link on how implementing it with MongoDB might be straightfoward
				Feasible

large scale but piggy backs on What 3 Words	Maybe a bit poverty porn?	patronising?	Limited life - may need expanding	Complex - but can be simplified	What if you're only depressed person in area?	Music share very difficult on a single page	needs better social aspect hook up	May need to limit number of hobbies etc or be overwhelmed	It won't do a lot
Not very attractive though	Game would be quite hard to implement (POV etc) in a single page?	research into varying effects of disability	Corona fatigue	small audience	Do we set a time limit on how long it is displayed for or risk some areas looking perpetually depressed?	copyright issues (need permission to store and play music)	careful of bad reviews - do we remove them - could we be sued?	Might need a powerful server? Not a big problem though.	How do we code to monitor different devices eg running on a phone is different to running on a laptop
Is it applied to real beach? If so, how do we know if garbage is collected. Or it is just a game?	Are NPC and trigger events needed?	Where can we get the information of how the screen looks like?	How to decide the rate of transmission and infection?	very reliant on quality polution data	May need to add something uplifting - nearby places to go/local help etc	Is audience registration included? (add lives to favorites for quick checking)	Think Hobby map is better than this one.	doesnt actually link people with similar interests Just raises awareness	Might need a powerful server? Not a big problem though.

What 3 words not reliable for location	Very hard to implement			I wouldnt use it		The Play concept is basically tracking what the user does and what sites they visit. Opens up Data Protection issues	Too small an audience (I don't even like coffee)
very niche dont think anyone would actually use it				doesn't help solve the issue just helps avoid it			Promotes drinking coffee
